

No. 110

The harvest drive of that organization is starting down Arkansas way—and it will wind up in California, the land of the sunny jails.

* * *

That famous old organization is packing a peeve now days that would do credit to a "man of God" waking up on a Sunday morning to find a cat had expectorated in one of his holiness' slippers.

* * *

The arresting and jailing of working men in California has reached a stage that is disconcerting and surely calls for some concerted action.

* * *

Recently California has arrested some of nature's noblemen that are near and dear to the "straw cats." Hence it may be possible, and likely, that the harvester will interrupt his harvesting of wheat long enough to bring his inquiring mind to bear on the California situation.