

THE SCOOP

Tribunes "Scoop:"

According to the Chicago Tribune, an authority on such matters, President Coolidge is about to experience an increase in the population of these United States of America. Mrs. Coolidge is "to have a baby," says the Tribune.—

That ought to jar Cal loose from a speech. And, it is hoped, (right here) that he will definitely define and outline his policies, in his courageous and forceful way—especially regarding domestic problems—so clearly as to leave nothing to surprise or disillusion those who marked his course during the months he served as a President of a less populous country; that he may indicate a continuance, if not indeed a still firmer purpose to maintain, a strict adherence to the fundamentals of constitutional democracy.

And it is hoped (right here) that he will reaffirm the right of a sovereign people—the inherent right—to enjoy the fruits of their own industry—where it doesn't conflict with "the idealism of Economy in its most practical form." . . .

We hope it's a boy.
