

nose or for any other reason, and I cannot pay it and you big hearted sap that you are cancel that debt, just how will that improve the condition of my purse? — Empty it was, and the cancellation thrown into it ain't going to make it clink — my buying power is still non-existent, heigh ho.

...you can say six cents worth for every dollar cancelled, eh? Sounds like petty larceny, don't it? Well it isn't, it's petty thinking—that's how the big boys are going to bring back the prosperity stolen from you—if successful, it means 6 per

Only over-expansion in needless utilities—needed buying power sunk into them; over-expenditures in wars and war-making materials, (our own and others) at a low ratio of return—needed buying power sunk into them, needlessly.

years steady employment. How come? Because six years employment under present conditions will make it worse—over-expansion is a swelling that cannot be reduced by adding thereto. The buying power is in that case making it impossible for anyone to over-stand; you obviate the need for toke out fight-bills and cancel them. du of Th ductionless servitude on pay cannot be to labor, 80 per cent, minus expenses, to expansion"—and expansion has a limit; productivity has no limit as yet. What is over-expansion?

—needless—vanity. At $3,000 a set, farmers of U. S. A. have sunk some-like $30,000,000,000—quite a row —thirty billion dollars into over-at a dollar a bushel—2½ billion bushels at $2 a bushel—1½ billion bushels per bushel. That, mind you, is only the tamest over-expansion we

...wily he never would have seen it, the recuperative powers of society have prevented it for all time. I sit me down and write here and there

It is, instead, they must spend in endless begging expeditions— The west c very careful not to overload my —it runs way out of the billions, though exceed my learning and n any figure, say 9 and add 0's it will run away.

It is er in t

the wealth tossed into over-expenditure is worthless—those 19 threshing machines are nothing but a row of nineteen-kind of expense.

any more wealth into that sink-