The "trend" toward isolation cannot be stopt except with a porkchop.

It wont listen to reason, agreements—nor will it take orders.

Porkchop or "no deal".

Joshuas stunt of commanding the sun to "drop anchors" wont do it.

(That was a case of sweet wine in too many quantities and the boys slept the clock round.—It was next day.)

In Re Arms Cut, referred to in previous article: Insofar as choking can be done without rifles and one man can choke several opponents of a war—afternoon better results can be had by removing the blood and muscle arms from their shoullder sockets—even then peace would not be profound because armymen can kick only less than their counterpart, the army mule. Verily dissarmament has no bearing on peace, you've got to take their legs off too so they can only bite and chew up the enemy's ears.

I have laid down a law in a previous article in regards how to restore "buying power" and its concomitant prosperities and good cheer. I repeat and stress:

Compel machine to displace Time, not men.

It is as fair to boss as was previous measurement prior to advent of machine—which same was unfair to Labor.

Present arrangement is unfair to Boss, Labor and Everybody.

This is one time I've got the majority. Organize.

My advice to the radicals is:

You better come to an understanding—you ain't going to exterminate—the other guy tends to that.

You'd make a fine showing, now wouldn't you—2½ per cent, and them fleeing.

You can see I been reading the bible.
