No? They've got to steal that bread, peck at it, scrap—and then fly away. Goodbye! They didn't want it.

"Self is losing all the battles in Europe—its a regular program that finds each successive campaign devoid of sufficient support. Not that it makes any difference, for no part of war is sensible and no part of capitalism is worthy of defense.

Personally, I am selling nothing and buying nothing.
—and I don't think Harrishan's Heroes has any claim on my military prowess.
Isolation?

When you are on the wrong side of the fence, isolation is the one policy you have left (They even isolate the more violent manizes)—from Europe's incessant slaughters.

USA is selfsufficient—except for tin.
Use silver—or alloy.

No we do not yet have to give-up the ghost as a republic; altho plenty heirs-apparant are fingering their erying-towels and silken snoot-rags.

We can go on and build upon the Republic a commonwealth that is more in align with modern (as well as past) requirements—if we so desire.

Hobo in hostile territory isolates himself before the town-clown isolates him—and retains his freedom.

A worker quits before the boss fires him.

It's a question—do you want to isolate yourself voluntarily or wait until economics forcibly isolates you? Think you can outgeneral the barter system?
You're good if you can; but its going to take plenty gold-filler from your teeth—and you know how you love gold.

Since the several Satans took-over the supervision of the Hell, Known as war, it has been tough on the elite social pillars such as parasites and exploiters; never knowing what minute a 27,000 hp. bomb is going to drop in bed with them and have their sad remains plastered all over the State-Room walls
