

Enemy cinderellas (incinerator bombs) and stuff like that—just when we need the poorhouses most. "Another Poorhouse Goes Up In Smoke"—could anything be more enervating!

The purpose of the economic royalists seems to be "risk all our substance in defense of their racket and run the wealth of the nation down to zero."

All right. Labor can help here by accepting higher wages and thus bring the revolution that much sooner—a juggy-horse never again plows.

Unquestionably children should be moved out of the areas of man-made danger in war zones.

I doubt however if the warring nations can come to an agreement on the method to be used. Therefore, to help the thing along, I suggest each mercy ship be examined at sea, coming and going, by interested belligerents, to verify the fact that no politicians or plutocrats are aboard disguised as nursemaids
