

As of 1934-35

(A)

Nobody is hero to a company. (That's a heluva joke aint it?) And all the effort we have put out to present ourselves in a favorable light! Gratitude is another feeling that is foreign to a company.

Heroism and gratitude do not easily lend themselves to economical considerations — neither do they resolve themselves into dollars and cents — not even in Australia or Hoboken.