

Before it was: extermination in passion — capital punishment is the cold blooded sanctification for war (and individual killing) accomplished in the estuary at the beginning of this unregenerative age.

You say, "Your state is a killer according to law."

Well, that doesn't make it a life giver, it is still a killer — authorized by yourself.

You countenance the teaching of war to children and you insist the teachers be sabre rattlers in public schools.

Do you think sabre rattlers qualify in ways of wisdom?

These are our accomplishments, and we consider ourselves innocent.

We are not innocent — we're outright dumb.

Put these five with the others
