

Sorry—but we must have a concrete argument showing how capitalism, not democracy, is being saved. (True democracy is self-contained), a weak word: Artificial political democracy throughout the world, one of the guardian "angels" at the gates of the parasites' "concession" of exploitation, failed of aiding their fellow-democrats the nationals of Spain. Why did they withhold such aid?

Because the existence of capitalism was threatened with extinction at the hands of Spanish nationals. They would rather have democracy die than have their beloved capitalism suffer injury. The fact that totalitarian Germany and Italy did go in there and offer aid to the opposition and did help to kill-off national democracy in Spain does not prove conclusively that world "autocracy" and world "democracy" are both shielding and preserving capitalism (what is left of it)—for the Rome-Berlin victory in Spain left the whole matter in flux, for whatever future purpose (as I would prefer to believe—your guess is as good as mine).

Anyhow capitalism did not bite the dust so far but may yet get a mouthful of turf. Our own efforts in behalf of the nationals of Spain was strictly a workers freelance movement and what little sabotage (of the workers movement in Spain) was attempted was performed by the parasites organizations of our fair land, in the name of hypocrisy—not so subtle at that; but sufficient.

Russia did help the nationals to the extent of name only—conditionally.

I think I have here proved that it is capitalism (racket) regardless of its garb that is being pulled out of the gutter (the bum!)—I hope the lifesavers don't dirty their Sunday pants.

Young man, do you wish to step out and rescue capitalism, the old racket, from the disgrace into which it has fallen?
